

CONNECTION TO COMMUNITY

ORIENTATION

REPORT

2024

Place: Auditorium, MSI(T)
4th September' 2023, 9:45 AM

Introduction

The Media and Broadcasting Society successfully conducted its orientation event, welcoming new members and introducing them to the society's vision and activities. The event followed an exciting and well-structured flow of activities, ensuring the audience remained engaged throughout.

Highlights of the Orientation:

The Preparation for the program started long before the new students arrived at the auditorium. Society members assembled at 8:30 am in the morning to initiate their drills and practice sessions, aiming for a perfectly executed event.

Opening with a Song Instrumental:

The event began with a soothing instrumental piece that played for 10 seconds, setting a relaxed and welcoming atmosphere for all attendees. The instrumental was carefully chosen to resonate with the spirit of creativity and collaboration that the society embodies.

Introduction of the Society:

The official opening was marked by an energetic introduction to the Media and Broadcasting Society by two dynamic society members, Siddharth and Akash. They walked the audience through the objectives, activities, and upcoming projects the society is involved in. Their enthusiasm and humor created a lively vibe, leaving the new members eager to learn more.

Speech by Dr. Aman Dahiya:

Dr. Aman Dahiya, the convenor of the society, delivered an insightful speech, emphasizing the importance of creativity and teamwork in media and broadcasting. She shared her vision for the society, highlighting how it serves as a platform for students to express themselves and refine their communication skills. Her words inspired the attendees to contribute their best to the society.

Quiz Round by Society Heads:

Next came an engaging quiz session conducted by the society heads. The questions revolved around media, broadcasting, and general knowledge. This interactive segment had the new members competing with each other, and it served as a fun and informative way to break the ice. Winners of the quiz were awarded, adding a competitive flair to the event.

Ramp Walk :

Siddharth and Akash then returned to the stage for a light-hearted and entertaining ramp walk. Their playful and confident demeanor charmed the audience and filled the room with laughter. This segment was a great way to lighten the mood and showcase the society's fun side.

Performance by Octave Members:

Members from the music society of msi(t), Octave, delivered a powerful performance that truly captivated the audience. Their melodic and rhythmic talents were on full display, making this one of the standout moments of the orientation. The performance not only entertained but also emphasized the creative talents housed within the society.

Closing with a Shoutout:

The orientation concluded with a vibrant shoutout from the society's heads and members. They thanked the audience for their enthusiasm and participation, encouraging them to remain active in upcoming events and initiatives. The shoutout energized the room and left everyone excited about the future activities of the Media and Broadcasting Society.

Conclusion:

The orientation event was a resounding success, leaving a lasting impression on new members. It effectively showcased the society's spirit of creativity, collaboration, and fun, setting a positive tone for the upcoming year.

Dr. Aman Dahiya

Associate Professor & Convener Media Cell MSIT